

Since this will be all garden (no grass) I think I may need some large flat stones to step on to get "into" the garden for pruning/maintenance. I can see it working in the front with lower ground covers and these flat stones but not sure how to integrate it into the back area? Open to your recommendations

- I sent you a pinterest board for inspiration, I like an organic feel, not too organized, if that makes sense
- I was considering pricing out a watering system but it will most likely be out of our budget.
- We get morning sun till around 2:30pm
- Also I'm not sure about implementation... should I put the plants in myself or should I hire a company? Is that expensive? I think I could do it myself with some help for the larger shrubs (and prefer too)
- Drawing not to scale but measurements are correct

We need to fit Mary into the design!

Plant List - Row A

Sweet Alyssum

Notes: does really well in Rockaway, several neighbors have it.

Dusty Miller

Notes: I already have it in the front, it's thriving, would work great.

catnip

Notes: for the stray cats, type of mint. Would this be too invasive?

Wooly Thyme Plant

Notes: I already have a bit of this, did well last year.

Hen and chicks

Notes: Not sure if this will die off because of regular watering of other plans?

Emerald Carpet

Notes: I've seen this around rockaway so I'm guessing it will do well

Pear cactus

Notes: Not sure if this will die off because of regular watering of other plans?

(Tradescantia pallida 'Purple Heart')

Notes: Annual Flower Bed, Border / Edger, Containers / Planters, Garden Pond, Ground-cover,

Emerald Carpet

Notes: I Flowers over a long period. Best in full sun, very tolerant of wind and salt spray.

Plant List - Row B

Daylily

Notes: grows well in poor soil, Maybe only purple depending on final layout of flowers.

boskoop ruby broom

Notes: It is considered to be drought-tolerant

agastache

Notes: great for the bees, I've always loved this plant

Russian Sage

*Notes: this is around the boardwalk
It attracts bees, birds, butterflies*

Achillea millefolium

Notes: red flowers finish, stems turn a lovely shade of buff yellow. Attracts butterflies

Plant List - Row C

Bayberry - Myrica

Notes: Native, great for use of soaps and candles. Not sure if this will grow to big?

Globe Blue Spruce

Notes: Love the color. There's standard and dwarf not sure what would work best with design

Pink / white Pampas Grass

Notes: plant at the back of a perennial border. Very drought tolerant

Pitch Pine

Notes: We love this tree but is it too much in the front, maybe we save it for the backyard?

Little bluestem

Notes: plant at the back of a perennial border. Very drought tolerant

beebalm

Notes: for the birds

Note: these are just suggestions, please feel free to omit or suggest other flowers/shrubs
